REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION.

HEADQUARTERS REPUBLICAN STATE COMMITTEE, Harrisburg, Pa., May [illegible] 1883. The Republican State Convention will be held in the Hall of the House of Representatives on the second Wednesday [illegible] July, 1883, at 12 o'clock m., for the purpose of nominating candidates for Auditor General and State Treasurer and the transaction of other business. The attention of Republicans throughout the State is respectfully invited to the following permanent rules established for the holding of State Conventions and the conduct of the party:

First. That delegates to State Conventions shall be chosen in the manner in which candidates for the General Assembly are nominated, except in Senatorial districts composed of more than one county, in which conferees for the selection of Senatorial delegates shall be chosen in the manner aforesaid.

Second. Hereafter the State Convention of the Republican party shall be held on the second Wednesday of July, except in the year of the Presidential election, when it shall be held not more than thirty days previous to the day fixed for the National Convention, and at least sixty days notice shall be given of the date of the State Convention.

Third. That we recommend to the County organizations that in their rules they allow the largest freedom in the general participation in the primaries consistent with the preservation of the party organization.

By order Republican State Committee,
THOS. V. COOPER, Chairman.

Meeting of Republican County Committee.

HEADQUARTERS REPUBLICAN COUNTY COMMITTEE, Smethport, Pa., May 11th 1883. In pursuance of above call the members of the Republican County Committee are requested to meet in Smethport on Tuesday, June 5, 1883, at 2 p. m. for the purpose of fixing date and place of holding County Convention to select delegates and for transaction of such other business as may properly come before the Committee.

M. A. SPRAGUE, Chairman.

WHAT has become of the county poor house scheme? If there is any good in it, why let it die?

DON CAMERON has sailed for Europe with his family, but John Independent Mitchell is still with us.

THE legislature promises to adjourn June 6. They have ample time to do a great deal of mischief yet.

WHEN one reads of the cyclones, floods and blizzards of the West he is content with a home in McKean protected by our rock ribbed and riveted hills.

WE have yet to hear of any evidence of popular indignation because of the probability of Potter county being attached to this county as a judicial district.

EVERY member of the republican county committee should make it a point to be present at the meeting called at this place on the fifth of next month. Some important business will come before them.

PUBLIC opinion is getting to be a rather unsafe guide, when those who take the law in their own hands to avenge real or fancied wrongs are by it commended or excused. The hanging of a few high toned murderers would be a great thing in the interest of law and order in this country.

THE republicans of the State senate are striving for an harmonious adjustment of the apportionment bill. It is a difficult task in view of the fact that so many statesmen with congressional aspirations and a desire to patch up districts that will make their calling and election sure have a say in the matter.

NEXT to making a retraction which with us is almost an impossibility—we dislike to write an apology. We will say however to those of our readers who may be rightfully aggrieved because of the continued encroachment of legal and other advertising upon the reading columns of the MINER that we hope soon to perfect arrangements whereby we can not only accommodate our increasing advertising patronage, but can do full justice to our daily growing army of readers.

DEATH has been busy in the ranks of the bishops of the Methodist Episcopal Church during the past few years. The latest called is Bishop Jesse T. Peck, who died at his residence in Syracuse last Thursday, after a long illness. He was one of the oldest of the present bishops, a man of remarkable power and ability, and had held that most exalted and honorable of ecclesiastical positions for eleven years with honor to himself, his church and his Master.

APPEARANCES indicate that the present legislature of the State of Pennsylvania is very much disposed to crown the infamy of its most useless session by adding upon one of the most prolific yet overburdened products of the State an unjust, iniquitous and discriminating tax. The proposition to tax Pennsylvania petroleum to an amount equal to very nearly five cents a barrel is a scheme of such monumental impudence and audacity that we should suppose even a Pennsylvania legislature would hesitate before attempting it. No product in the State is now bearing so heavy a burden, and no product so urgently needs the protecting and fostering care of government, yet our local law makers propose to heap additional burdens upon it to make up the deficiency in the revenues caused by their own extravagance. If they cannot and will not do anything for the oil interests of the State, let them at least keep their hands off.

A Party "Out of Meat."

Tilden and Tildenism are fixed facts in politics again. They do not stay fixed and it takes an uncommon lot of fixing to keep them so; but there they are—facts. The "old man" has loomed again on the political horizon and those two watchmen of the Democratic night, Mr. Charles A. Dana and Mr. Henri Watterson, return the old answer for the third time to the old question.

> Watchman, tell us of the night,
> What its signs of promise are?

carols Mr. Watterson from his watch tower, and Mr. Dana, who would like to see daylight over "You mountain height," sees instead—Tilden.

It is true that Mr. Tilden is not a candidate, his friends do not want him to be a candidate, his enemies are determined he shall not be one and the prophet of his past Avatars, the New York Sun, calls political innocents, who speak of him as a candidate, liars and other disagreeable things. Still the boom grows, the sound of the barrel is heard in the land, and the Democratic party has today no man one-half so often mentioned for the Presidency as Samuel Jones Tilden.

Still, allowances must be made when the family is out of meat. If Tilden is counted out, who can be reckoned upon? Not McDonald, whose free trade would lose every State on the seaboard and probably his own; not Hendricks, whom Tilden's friends would send home as Cass was, "by way of the lakes;" not Pendleton, who is stumbling around Ohio with the haft of the Enquirer dagger between his shoulder blades; not Butler, who can't carry Kentucky even; not Cleveland, who hasn't to-day a straight majority in New York City; not Mr. Randall, who is being read out of the party for any national post by Watterson. There is Seymour, but he is too old. Pattison is too young, lacks years, and is in a fair way to lack a party, too. There is nothing for a party to do under these circumstances but to begin digging at the old hole for the old woodchuck again.—Philadelphia Press.

PERSONAL AND POLITICAL.

They are branding the Democratic herd again with the old mark, "S. J. T., his ✝ mark."—Philadelphia Press.

England is swift to detect and condemn the assassins of British justice. But she is blind and stupid to enforce the vindication of Irish rights.

William Mahone, of Virginia, is not a large man; but he appears to be cheerfully willing to put on hard gloves and meet the entire crowd of Bourbons in Virginia with bare hands.

Major Phipps is convicted and will probably spend a season in the Penitentiary, but the man who audited his accounts will remain Governor for four years.—Harrisburg Telegraph.

The fact that General Grant was not elected President of the Association of the Army of the Potomac will hardly obscure in history the other fact that he was the foremost and most successful General of that army.—Philadelphia Record.

The excellent Troy Times rightfully credits Roscoe Conkling with "great tenacity of purpose," forgetting that that is exactly the same trait of character which a crab exhibits in clinging to the pork-bait which lifts him out of the dampness.

The venerable Bishop Peck, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, not long ago gave all his property to the Syracuse University, preferring to dispose of it thus during his own life. "I have an ambition," he said, "to die without anything, for I am going to where I shall have infinite riches of a kind that will suit me better than any of these material things."—New York Tribune.

It is openly charged that Proctor Knott secured the nomination for Governor yesterday, at the Kentucky democratic State convention, by the lavish use of money. His competitor, Jones, received 372 votes on the last ballot, to Knott's 383, but before the result was announced, a sufficient number of delegates were induced to change their votes to nominate Knott. It is said $5,000 did the business.—Buffalo Commercial Advertiser.

Our friend, everybody's friend, Mrs. Lydia Pinkham, is dead. The good lady's face was better known to the world than that of any other woman in America, not excepting Mrs. R. B. Hayes. It was much better known than her medicines, though they sold well enough to enable her to leave an estate of $300,000. By the way, how is Mrs. Winslow getting on and has anybody had tidings lately of the condition of Mrs. S. A. Allen, the world renowned hair restorer.—Buffalo Commercial Advertiser.

The death of Gen. Grant's mother calls to mind a letter which he wrote to her forty four years ago, when he was a West Point cadet, expressing a hope that has been wonderfully fulfilled. "Your kind words of admonition," he wrote, "are ever present with me. How well they strengthen me in every good word and work! Should I become a soldier for my country, I look forward to the hope to have you spared to share with me in any advancement I may gain, and I trust my future conduct will prove me worthy of the patriotic instruction you and father have given me."

Our cheerful friend, Colonel A. K. McClure, of the Philadelphia Times, should not work himself into a frame of mind because of the waning prospects of Mr. Sam Randall. Mr. Sam Randall is a Democratic Impossibility. The tariff discussion must proceed. Pennsylvania, being joined to her idols, is not looked to either for Democratic counsels or Democratic votes. Colonel McClure is a brilliant and promising young editor and should not despair of the Republic nor waste his manly bloom upon Mr. Sam Randall.—Louisville Courier Journal.

Chairman Cooper briefly outlined to Governor Cameron of Virginia the situation in the Pennsylvania Legislature and declared his belief that the tariff would inevitably be the issue in the next State campaign, growing out of the Democratic refusal to allow a Congressional apportionment which would be fair to the Republican party and to the Pennsylvania interest in the tariff. The Republicans of the Senate, he said, had framed a fair bill and would not yield a district to the Democrats of the House, who would be held to answer if no apportionment were made. The Republicans were ready to go to the State on their bill and make the tariff the leading issue this fall.

Louisville, Ky., May 17.—The Committee on Resolutions of the Democratic State Convention reported the following: "The Kentucky Democracy are unalterably opposed to subsidies of every description. They believe that all taxation should be for the support of the Government. They denounce the tariff act of the last Republican Congress as a monster piece of injustice and wrong, and they demand of the next Democratic House of Representatives a measure of relief and reform based upon the organic law of the Democratic party declared at St. Louis in 1876 and reaffirmed at Cincinnati in 1880, which requires that all custom house taxation shall be for revenue only."

The Catholic Comrades of the Grand Army of the Republic, through a special committee appointed for the purpose, on Wednesday presented to the Most Rev. Archbishop Wood a petition asking that the following privilege be granted them: "That a requiem mass may be celebrated on Decoration Day, May 30, for the repose of the souls of our deceased comrades, and the Grand Army of the Republic be permitted to attend such service in the dress or uniform of their organization, and that the Posts be allowed to attend the funeral services of their deceased members in the Catholic churches and cemeteries." The petition further asserts that the organization is not a secret society, as is thought by some Catholic prelates, and while it has no pretentions to be a religious body, it is not a political one.

NEIGHBORHOOD NEWS.

The woods are said to abound in wild flowers.

Whatever next week may be, we have had rain enough this, to be entitled to a rest.

The work on the jail has put it beyond the possibility of the most slippery criminal to escape.

The rain will make the crop of hay, McKean's greatest agricultural production, an abundant one.

[illegible] saw mill in this borough is cutting from thirty to thirty five thousand feet of lumber daily.

A number of people were victimized by the "deaf and dumb" doctor in various sums varying from twenty five cents to two dollars.

The attendance in the schools has fallen off materially since the weather is warm enough to entice the children outside to play.

The local brass band has made great strides in music lately, and now ranks favorably with like organizations anywhere in the land.

The new saw mill at Ormsby's is now running on full time and is probably cutting more lumber than any other mill in the county.

Forest fires which had been doing great damage in different sections of the country were effectually subdued by the recent heavy rains.

Will the Democrat have the kindness to revise its official directory and get the names of the officers as they now are? It tends to mislead.

The prisoners in the jail now number near twenty, and are charged with nearly every grade of crime from attempted murder down to kicking in a [illegible].

What is the matter with the trout fishermen? Have they seen the error of their ways and learned to be truthful, or have they not ventured out to whip the streams yet?

The regular Sunday excursions from Bradford, Buffalo, Rochester and even New York, Chicago and Pittsburg to the [illegible] bridge have commenced and will be kept up through the warm weather.

There will be some lively times in court next week over the question of granting license, and while many think themselves called, there will not likely be near so many chosen as formerly.

The fates seem to have it in for Bradford. Last Tuesday, the first circus day of the season, it rained all day as usual. Bradford should cease to be so wicked and it may be she could have some show yet.

A careful examination of the remains of the alligator disclosed the fact that he was carrying in his anatomy three buck shot that had been deposited there about a year ago by his captor, S. [illegible].

From the body beating that was going on in different parts of the town last Saturday night, it might have been imagined that the Assyrian had come down like the wolf on the fold, but it was only a few loggers from up the creek.

Vegetation had been waiting for this rain for some time, and if warm weather follows for the balance of the season the damage will not be great after all. Who knows but that the weather would run alright without our interference.

A great many people will be in New York to day to witness the opening of the Brooklyn bridge. Not many of our people will be able to attend, but when the new bridge which our commissioner's have promised us for Potatoe Creek is opened, we can all go.

The Buffalo Evening Telegraph came out on the evening of the 21st, all unexpected, in a bright new dress and enlarged to a six columns. This is conclusive evidence of prosperity, but was not needed, as a paper with the "grit" in it that the Telegraph has always shown will always prosper in a reading community.

The narrow gauge railroads in and about Eldred are experiencing trouble again with high water. With their tracks under water three months in the year it seems as if those companies would soon learn that it would be safer and fully as profitable to elevate the track above danger, especially when their roads are of that kind which require little or no grading.

Next Wednesday the 30th, will be memorial day and all over the north, business will be generally suspended, and people will bend their steps toward the places where their dead soldier friends rest, to pay their annual tribute of respect to the memory of those whose unselfishness in the hour of greatest danger caused them to forget all else but the good of the nation.

Duke Centre people have concluded to petition the Court to annul their corporate charter, which if done will lapse them back into the cross road hamlet from which they sprang a few years ago with the belief that theirs was destined to be the city of McKean county. It is claimed that of the taxes assessed, not enough can be collected to defray the running expenses of the borough. Poor Duke, how are the mighty fallen.

Hon. David Sterrett came up from Harrisburg to spend the Sabbath but as he did not take the trouble to call at the MINER office we did not have an opportunity to enquire after his health.

Post vs. Book.

Since the famous lawsuit of Jarndyce vs. Jarndice, as detailed by Dickens, there has been few if any more tedious law suits than that of Post vs. Book, which has hung in the courts continually since the winter of 1876, or in round numbers seven years. A difference of opinion, honest or otherwise existed, as to their relative interests in certain tracts of valuable oil lands on the East Branch of the Tuna. By dint of superior force, Book obtained possession of the property, and held it, compelling Post to resort to the courts to obtain rightful dividend in it. A suit in chancery is a long chase at best, but the immense amount of testimony required to be taken, to establish the outlay at the numerous wells on the disputed property, and the production therefrom, made this case unusually tedious so much so that it only came before the Supreme Court for final adjudication at the recent May term in Philadelphia, and the judgment being handed down by that court on Monday last.

In all the courts Post has been successful, and now finds himself in possession of a final judgment of somewhere near $150,000 against the disputed property which is in the hands of a receiver and is abundantly able to pay it. The tenacity displayed by both these litigants would seem to indicate that each thought himself in the right and was determined to maintain it. Throughout the whole time the best feeling has always been displayed by the parties toward each other, and their meetings from time to time in the business of taking testimony have always had the appearance of friendly visits rather than a struggle for a great fortune. It is likely, now that the dance is ended and the piper to pay, that friendship will not be prominently displayed hereafter.

Do YOU intend to buy an Out fit this summer?

DON'T YOU wish to purchase a garment that fits?

DO YOU wish to see a full line of clothing to select from?

DON'T YOU wish to be dealt with honorably?

DO YOU not wish to purchase of a house that has but one price?

DON'T YOU wish to know the lowest price first?

BUT IF YOU DO wish to deal upon principles that are honorable and when these promises are fulfilled call upon us, or send a postal for one of our legal guarantees that we give with each sale, and you will coincide with us that a one price house is the only house to deal with to receive value.

Graff of Red Rock Union Vice President and Frank Fowler of Dewey Union, Bradford, Treasurer and Secretary. Seth Gurgonious was chosen representative, and Frank Fowler alternate to the State Union which will probably meet in Warren some time during the coming summer.

BRADFORD.

A Cursory Glance over the City and Vicinity—Where the People are and What they are Doing—A General Kick against the Councils—Post Laureate Carr.

The circus gave an entertainment in the evening Tuesday to a small audience, but then it was a small show.

The Era seems to regret that the Roberts people cannot still further oppress the producers by the enforcement of their alleged patent.

Peter T. Kennedy, whose health has suffered for some time from too close attention to business, is said to have gone to the Hot Springs, Ark. for a rest.

When Mayor Broder puts his foot down something must give, and as a consequence of a recent decided stand taken by him, a number of councilmen are squirming beneath his ample sole.

Thos L. Wilson who, since its inception, has furnished much of the pungent pabulum dealt out by the Sunday Mail, has resigned his position on that paper to take a responsible situation on the Rochester Sunday Herald.

Dr. D. F. [illegible], one of Bradford's best known and most thoroughly educated physicians, has located in Warsaw, N. Y., and now says he has abandoned the oil country forever. The Dr., I hope, will find a people in his new field of labor as appreciative as that he has left.

J. C. McCrea who already is loaded down with the honors and emoluments of the offices of chief of police and health officer has been made street commissioner, and so the third ward common councilman scores another home run with another democrat appointed to office.

We have a base ball club. On Saturday night last a meeting was held in the First Base [illegible], and by electing Charley Spangler captain with Frank [illegible] as business manager the organization was declared complete and ready to meet any of our neighboring village [illegible] in the [illegible] field.

Miss R. [illegible], youngest and only single daughter of [illegible] N. [illegible], was on Sunday evening last formally betrothed, according to the rites of the Hebrew Church to A. Kohn. The marriage will take place sometime in the summer, as there is a statute of limitation which is observed in such matters by our Jewish friends.

With characteristic generosity, Tony Pastor's manager has tendered the services of his brass band to the committee of arrangements for Decoration Day here. The Pastor Minstrels will show here on the evening of the [illegible] and this very generous courtesy will no doubt be referred to their benefit. The company will be disbanded here for the season.

Owing to the necessity of removing the rear wall of the Bradford Oil Exchange room in order to throw together the old auditorium and that of the annex, the business machinery, telegraph [illegible] have been temporarily removed to Opera Hall, where the gods of speculation will sit enthroned until the old quarters are made ready for occupation a few weeks hence, perhaps.

Highland Park was opened to the public for the season of 1883 on Tuesday evening with a very liberally attended dance. The park's proprietors [illegible] the pleasantest place in the valley, but the question [illegible] are not injurious to the young. True the managers advertise that none but respectable people will be allowed to attend or participate, and I am satisfied that they wish to have it so but they cannot, and this summer as last there will at times be found in the audience, creatures with whom no one would want their daughters to associate.

The Smethport MINER'S Bradford correspondent says: "Col. J. E. Ege returned on Monday last from a trip to Galveston and other points in the southwest. The Colonel says there is more land in Texas than any one has an idea of." If he had come back at the time stated that item would be correct, but the cold fact is that he is not back yet.—Sunday Mail.

I did not say any such a thing, for I had never heard of "J. E. Ege." I did say that Col. J. A. Ege had returned, and I maintain that it is so. The simple fact that the Mail does not know it goes for nothing. Col. Ege is a republican, and never spends his time hanging around the offices of alleged "independent" newspapers, and the chances are that he might be in the city a month before the Mail would find it out, provided the said paper had no notes falling due at the Col's back.

Last Sunday night at twelve o'clock the Roberts Torpedo patent, probably the most oppressive and inexcusable monopoly that the people of the oil producing country have ever had to contend against, died, and in its death a large number of free men, who have been in the past compelled to prosecute their calling under cover of the darkness, were released from the surveilance of the salaried spies and informers of the Roberts interest. The occasion was celebrated by a number of "moonlighters" in what they deemed a fitting way and was, to them a veritable emancipation from the meanest slavery that could exist. The feeling against the old concern is not good, and, indeed, the boys cannot be blamed much if they make it as hot in the future for Roberts, as he has always made it for them.

The return of warm weather, with the usual carelessness of so many of the people in leaving open windows and doors, is having its effect in drawing sneak thieves and burglars out of their hiding places, to rifle houses and appropriate the goods of others to themselves. Within a few days past the police have been notified of several burglaries and attempted acts of sneak thievery, but in each case it would seem that the efforts in this direction were due, mostly to the carelessness of owners or domestics in not properly closing and securing their houses before retiring. At G. A. Berry's last Sunday morning, his clothes were abstracted from his room, and, after turning the pockets inside out were left for him on the outside of the house. All that is wanted is a little care on the part of the people, and considerable more vigilance and work on the part of the police, in finding out, spotting and watching these characters and no harm can come from them.

"Return, oh wanderer return," has been sung with telling effect to the Nebraska colonists, and one by one they come dropping in, those who happened to have money enough to ride back, and the time now seems to be not far distant when those of them who were of use to this community will have been gathered home, and will be found at their usual vocations and places of business. A few days since Joe Nye turned up, looking sad and dejected, and soon after, A. M. Kleckner also appeared on the scene, apparently well satisfied to find himself again on the soil of a state where there is work, wages and abundance of everything for all. Of all the foolish moves ever made by the people of Bradford, this was certainly the most insane, and it has turned out just as I heretofore predicted that it would, the "committee" have had their western junket at the expense of the credulous, and the two doctors, who championed the movement have decided that their business would not permit their leaving, while the "[illegible]" are away out on the barren plains of Nebraska penniless.

I have always maintained that the people in Bradford were not to be outdone by any other in any good work that they are a mind to undertake, or any bad one for that matter, and now I am more than ever convinced that I have not placed too high an estimate on the genius, talent or enterprise of our citizens, since reading the poetic effusion of editor Carr of the Sunday Mail as gushed forth by him in the last issue of that interesting publication. Now if this piece of "burning verse" had borne the signature of the editor's wife—an estimable and talented lady by the way and possessed of more than ordinary literary ability—it would be all right, but as it is it may occasion an explanation from Andy sometime. It reads:

> You may squeeze me again and say that you love me,
> In a kind of an earnest caress,
> [illegible]
> [illegible] the power of the press.

While Andy has a just appreciation of the press, he should be careful or he may yet learn that it is a power, that when it is perverted, seems to come back with greatly accelerated motion and many times redoubled force. I am willing he should be crowned poet Laureate if he will take all the chances.

The monumental obtuseness of the average Bradford councilman is a study for a philosopher. A year ago, [illegible] that time since there was not a member of what now composes the two branches of the council who was not in full accord and sympathy with the people in their earnest endeavor to procure an adequate supply of water for domestic and fire purposes of a quality approximating purity, and with that distinct understanding each individual member was elected and now, in the short space of time that has elapsed since their elevation to posts of trust they have suddenly grown so wise and economic that they have virtually decided that the water is good enough, ample in quantity, and no other can be had. The city they say is poor, and the Lord knows it is, if it be judged by the councilmen it selects—and the present system will have to do for the present. I have mentioned some of these same statesmen before and I have not been [illegible] of their feelings believing that it was for their own good, and that of their constituency, and I am glad to see now that the local papers have at last come to the same reasoning sense of the situation, and have opened their [illegible] and dare to denounce what is such apparent trifling with a great responsibility.

A Few Words of The Truth.

It is universally acknowledged that [illegible], the square dealing clothier, No. 86 Main street, has established a world wide reputation for keeping the best goods the market affords and selling at the close prices that cannot be excelled by any other dealer in the city. His business has been so successful that it has enabled him to remove to the city of Buffalo to superintend his extensive manufacturing interest for the number of stores he has through the country, and the business in this city has been left under my supervision, which enterprise I am determined to keep above all my competitors. I wish to say to my friends of old and the public in general to come here and always will serve you with the best goods and lowest prices. Honest and fair dealing always my motto.

Your obedient servant,
A. SIMON, Manager,

A BAD, BAD INDIAN.

A Tramp in the Role of a Doctor attempts to Outrage a Woman and meets with swift Punishment.

For a week or more past there has been hanging around the town a filthy long haired tramp, who at first claimed to be deaf and dumb, and who carried on his conversation with whoever would give him attention, by writing what he wished to say, but who has latterly developed strong qualifications both as a talker and drinker, and who in addition to other accomplishments claims to be an Indian doctor. Last Saturday night he became unbearably abusive, when some one knocked him down, upon which he suddenly recovered his speech, and has not since attempted to impose himself upon, or gain sympathy from the people by that dodge. He will be recognized readily by the above description, and if that should not be sufficient the smell of him when within several feet of one will declare him. He is an imposter and probably worse and should be compelled to move on or be set to work. In any case it will be well to keep an eye on him while he is here.

LATER.—Since the above was in type, the scoundrel, whose name according to himself appears to be Leonard, has developed the genuine instincts and characteristics of the tramp, by making an indecent assault on a woman near the Buffalo depot.

As stated above, the beast claimes to be a physician, and, being in East Smethport, yesterday, he by some means got into the room where Mrs. Quick, wife of Quick the beer bottler there, was lying sick. Being left alone with her for a short time it is reported that the brute made indecent proposals to the patient first, and afterwards was in the act of making an assault, when Mrs. Quick's screams brought to her assistance her brother in law who was bottling beer in the cellar of the house. Coming into the room and learning what the trouble was the enraged man took the tramp doctor by the collar, and such other portion of his clothing as offered the greatest lifting advantages and hurled him down stairs.

Then the fool didn't have sense enough to get out of the place, but going to the Exchange hotel, hung around until the husband of the woman he had insulted, came home from a trip out somewhere with a load of his goods, and when the story of the insult was told him, his rage knew no bounds, and repairing to the hotel he met the brute just coming out of the house, when he knocked him down and proceeded to kick him into a somewhat more repulsive mass than he was before.

After Quick had administered a sound drubbing to the fellow, yet not half as severe as he deserved, the assembled citizens gave him notice that he would not be urgently needed in the neighborhood any longer and if he wished to save himself further punishment he would at once move on and put so much distance between himself and this village that he would not be heard or seen again.

At one time, as it is reported, some of the men were considering the project of administering a coat of tar and feathers to the dirty dog, but cooler judgment prevailed and he was deemed not worth the outlay. It is a wonder the husband of the insulted woman did not do him an injury that would have been permanent. When leaving town, as he did on foot, he was told by some one not to return or greater punishment would follow, he answered that he would write, and, of course we shall all wait anxiously for his promised epistle. We will no doubt hear from him again, as it will be impossible for him to behave himself, but it is not likely he will visit our town again unless he be brought to the jail here, from somewhere else.

Legislative Latin Scholars.

Several of the papers have been publishing a joke on Crawford and Mackin, members of the Legislature from Philadelphia, in which it is stated that a speaker having closed a speech with the familiar quotation 'Vox populi, vox Dei,' the following conversation took place between the Philadelphians:

'Wasn't that a grand climax?' said Mackin.

'It was the real stuff,' assented the other Philadelphian.

'I'll bet you ten dollars that you don't know what it means, though,' said Mackin.

'I'll just go you,' said Crawford, eagerly. 'Everybody knows it means "My God, My God, why hast Thou forsaken me?"'

'Here's the tenner,' said Mackin, admiringly, handing it over. 'I had no idea that you were such a Latin scholar.'

Crawford denounces the story as an infamous lie, and says he never indulges in Latin words or interpretations.

Has Killed His Man.

It is announced that John A. Cockerill, who has been editor of the Post Dispatch, of St. Louis, has been chosen to edit the New York World. It will be recalled that the greatest effort of Mr. Cockerill's life was the carrying of a personal controversy to such extremes that he thought it necessary to shoot his man. The St. Louis branch of the combination insists that Western journalism is much superior to that of the East, but it ought to be plain by this time that the shot gun policy in journalism is not popular in the East, and it is to be hoped no undue efforts will be made to introduce it.

The Dangers of American Pork.

BERLIN, May 16.—The North German Gazette attempts to prove by statistics that the danger of contracting trichinosis from American pork is sixty times greater than it is from German pork, and refers to the latest reports of the sanitary officers at Chicago, Erie and Boston, and to publications in the New York Medical Journal, to prove the correctness of its statements. The Gazette declares that the inspection of pork on its arrival at German ports has proved useless.

Worse Than Heathen.

All those parents who allow their children to suffer with worms when 25 cents will buy a box of Parmelee's Santonine Worm Candies which will immediately cure the child and remove the worms by dissolving them. Do you know the symptoms? Peevishness, Sudden Starting in Sleep, bad breath, great desire for food day and night. Be wise and leave nothing to regret. Price 25 cents per box. Sold by A. B. Armstrong and E. F. Richmond & Son.

His Soul and His Silver.

"You asking me how I came to be reminded of the story of the Scotchman who, on his deathbed, after a life of meanness, wanted to make things all right with the Lord by leaving some money to the kirk?"

"Will the A'mighty pass me into Heaven if I give £1,000 pounds to the kirk, d'ye think?" said he.

"I canna promise ye that, mon," answered the minister, "but I advise ye to try the experiment."

Laughing heartily at the story, F. E. Osborne of No. 273 Virginia avenue, Jersey City, pastor of the First Baptist Church, West Hoboken, continued: "That's what I did with Parker's Tonic; I tried the experiment. It more than met my expectations, and I am very glad to testify to its excellence. It goes at once to the root of all digestive and nervous derangements so common among men of my profession. For women and chronic invalids the Tonic is a perfect invigorant, and is destined to supplant all other remedies for this purpose. A single dose produces the gentle perspiration and sense of life which eradicates disease. It seems to rouse every organ into activity. I admire it, too, for its power to antagonize the hold of the liquor habit over the system."

This preparation, which has been known as Parker's Ginger Tonic, will hereafter be called simply Parker's Tonic. As unprincipled dealers are constantly deceiving their customers with inferior articles under the name of ginger, and as ginger is really an unimportant flavoring ingredient, we drop the misleading word.

There will be no change, however, in the preparation itself, and all bottles in the hands of dealers, wrapped under the name of Parker's Ginger Tonic, contain the genuine medicine if the facsimile signature of Hiscox & Co. is at the bottom of the outside wrapper.

A Great Cause of Human Misery is the Loss of MANHOOD
A Lecture on the Nature, Treatment and Radical cure of Seminal Weakness, or Spermatorrhœa, induced by Self-Abuse, Involuntary Emissions, Impotency, Nervous Debility, and Impediments to Marriage generally; Consumption, Epilepsy and Fits; Mental and Physical Incapacity, &c.—by ROBERT J. CULVERWELL, M. D., author of the "Green Book," &c.
The world-renowned author, in his admirable Lecture, clearly proves from his own experience that the awful consequences of Self-Abuse may be effectually removed without dangerous surgical operations, bougies, instruments, rings or cordials; pointing out a mode of cure at once certain and effectual, by which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.
This lecture will prove a boon to thousands and thousands.
Sent under seal, in a plain envelope, to any address, on receipt of six cents, or two postage stamps. Address
